

ASEA Suggested Dosages and Usages

ASEA is an amazing substance all of its own known as Redox Molecules. Redox Molecules renew and revive everything that they touch. It is gentle enough to spritz on the skin, into the eyes, nose and ears, and drink in sometimes larger dosages than most might think useful. ASEA is a naturally occurring substance that the body already produces. The body receives ASEA as if it was generated by itself in most cases.

Generally, four ounces per day is recommended consumed upon an empty stomach or ten minutes after eating. If there are no physical ailments you are struggling with, four ounces may be enough per day. This is equivalent to one bottle per week of ASEA ($40 per week) or one case per month (about $150 US). If you are in a health crisis, you can double the dosage until the crisis subsides. We know that ASEA is expensive and not easily available upon all continents at this time. The company is expanding ahead.

Some report feeling really tired using ASEA in the beginning, as the body is adjusting to it. However, generally by the next morning a feel-good high unfolds thereafter. Some report a high in their minds; and others do not. The response to ASEA has to do with levels of cortex development. Those in thulsa and thessa mindset may feel little in the mind upon ASEA although the overall stamina may be greater. Depression may lift if used through time too due to detoxifying the cortex.

For those with visspa and vesspa mindset, a real mind level high may unfold on ASEA for the first five months or more. This may fade if you continue to consume ASEA only due to maximized saturation levels of Redox Molecules in the fluid of the cortex. The mind high is very useful to focusing upon life upon the physical plane. Sometimes visspa and vesspa developments foster a severe mind bend into depression or suicidal feelings over life. ASEA may correct this in the first day of consumption.
